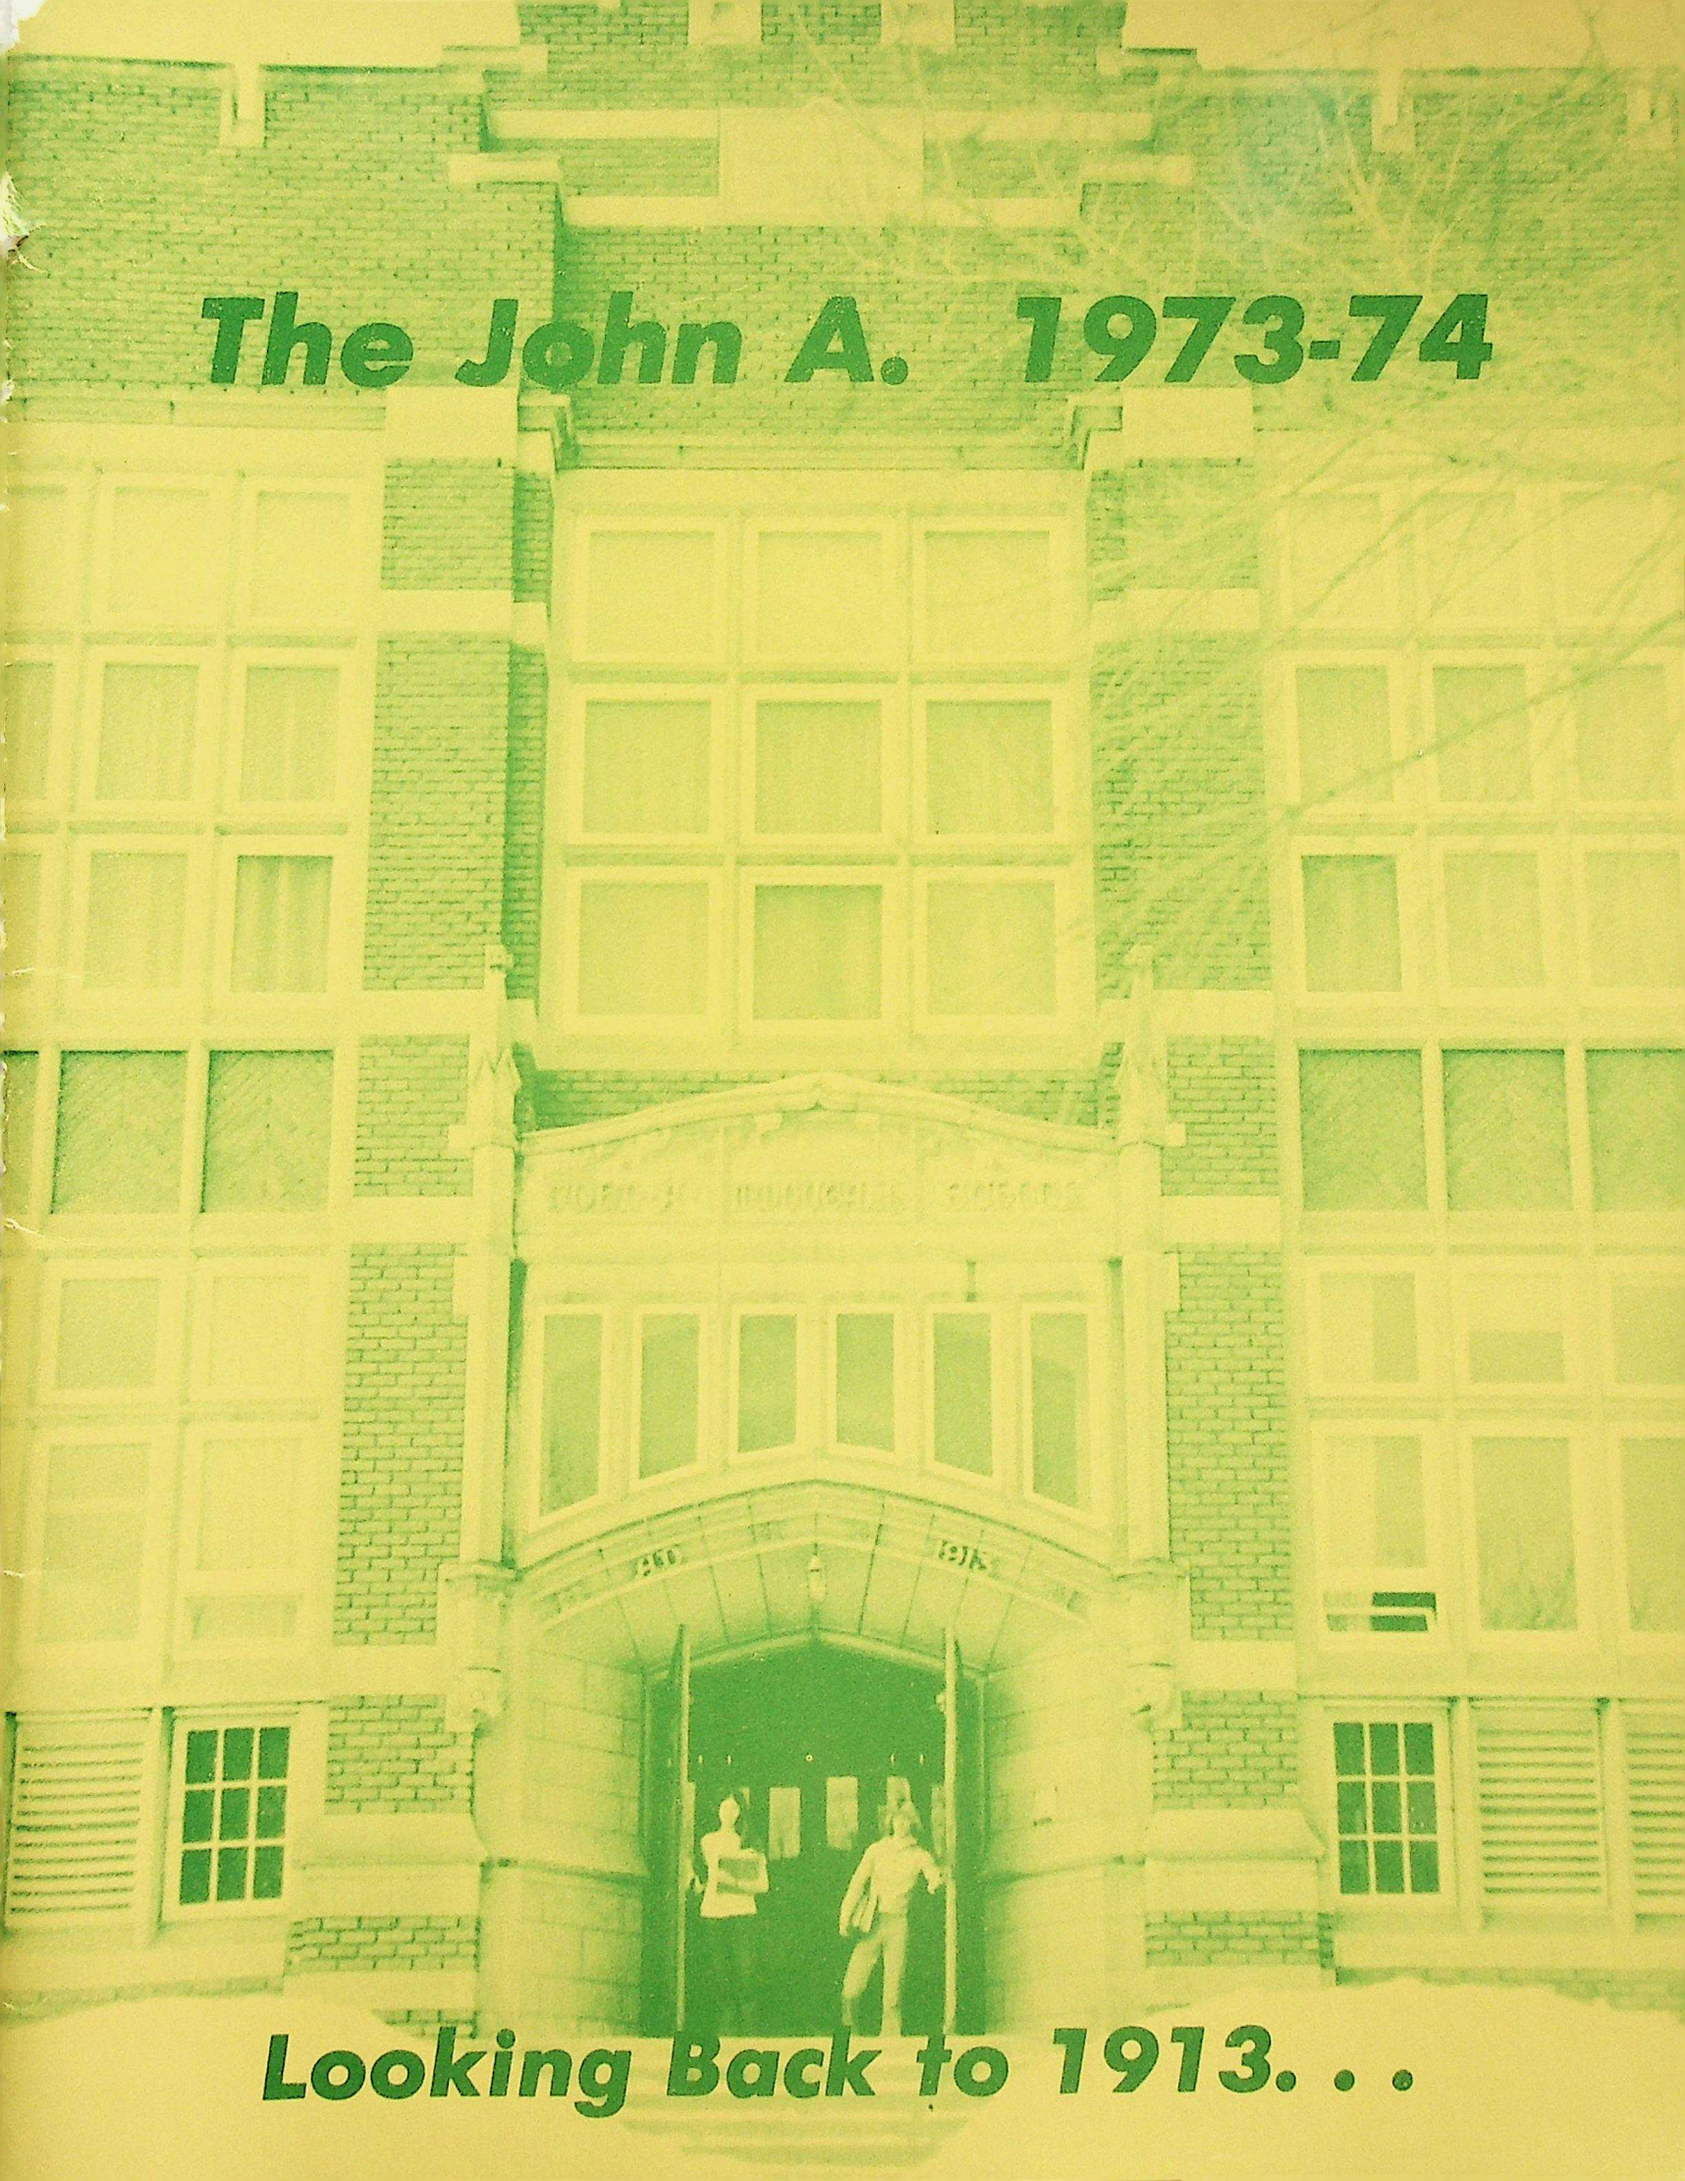
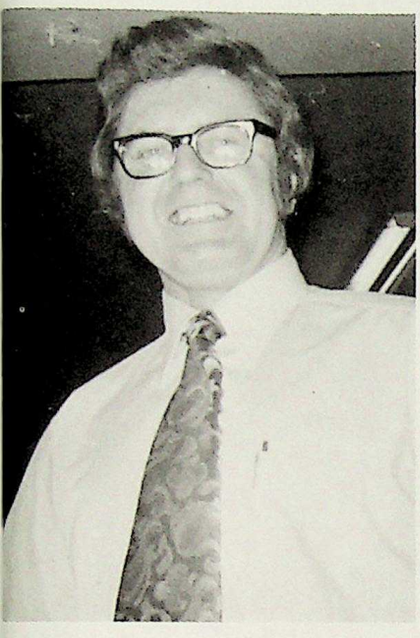
The John A. 1973-74



Looking Back to 1913. . .

Principal's Message



In retrospect we return to 1913, the year during which McDougall was built. Our 60th Anniversary this year provided a rewarding experience to all who have had associations with the school.

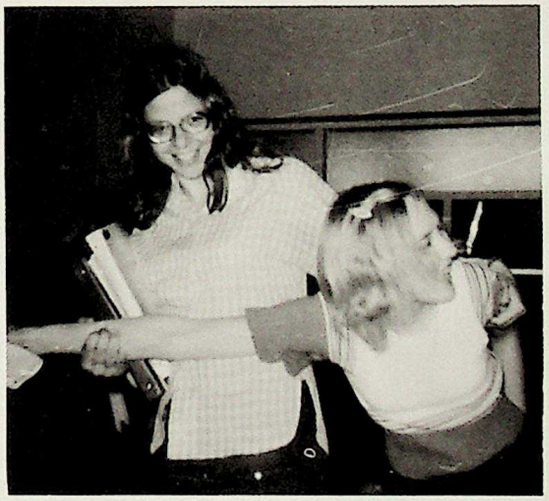
There is much to say about our school as we look back. The goals that we set are similar to those of people who have come before us. School equipment and the structure may be modified somewhat, but the young people attending and those who work with them are basically the same. All of us have definite goals and objectives to achieve and are diligently working toward that end. Responsibility for school success rests first with the individual and secondly with the home and school.

As individuals you must decide what you wish to be and strive to achieve that goal. McDougall School will not be able to take you there without effort.

Life may have its disappointments; however, there is also success and happiness. May we take this opportunity to wish all of you who have had some association with McDougall School happiness and satisfaction in the years ahead. We hope your experiences have been memorable and that you will again return to visit with us.

N. Kozak
Principal

Editor's Message



As this year has been McDougall's Sixtieth Anniversary, the yearbook staff has chosen the theme "Looking Back" for the yearbook. Special features this year are the history and the reunion pages.

1973-74 has been an exciting school year, filled with all sorts of activities. May your yearbook be a pleasant reminder of a great school year.

President's Message

First Term

I have enjoyed being the first term President of the Students' Council.

We had a lot of fun throwing paper airplanes, chalk, and lunches, but we did manage to get some serious work done.

I would like to thank Mrs. Johnston and the rest of the council for the help they gave me.

David Dyer
President
First Term

Second Term

The Students' Council has tried to make school more interesting by arranging social activities and setting up committees and houseleagues.

This year has been really great in the way of activities and social events. I've enjoyed it and I hope everyone else has, too.

Pat Struyk,
President
Second Term

Social Activities

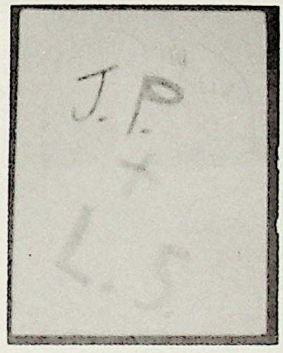
During the first half of the school term many activities took place.

We started the year off by having Frosh. The grade sevens dressed up as greasers and got in free at the Frosh Dance in the afternoon. Later we had a bake sale which was very successful. A Halloween Dance followed and turned out fine. The Christmas Dance sponsored by CHED Santas Anonymous was a most successful dance featuring the band "Jumper."

The rest of the months were followed with Bake Sales and other activities.

I really enjoyed being Social Convenor for the first term and I hope the students enjoyed the activities.

Anne Prokopiw
Social Convenor
First Term



We have had several social events since Christmas.

The first event in the second term was a Valentine Card Contest which was held on February 14. First prize went to Carol Pashak for the most original card and verse.

On March 1 we had our Annual Hat day, along with a dance. The students had to decorate hats with a prize going to the most original one. Then at the end of the day a sockhop was held. Those who wore decorated hats were admitted free. First prize went to Brian Kudzia for the most original hat. We would also like to thank Mrs. McNeil for baking the lovely cake for our Hat Day prize.

On March 26 we had a Bake Sale whish was held in the hallway during the lunch break. This went over successfully and I would like to thank everyone who participated. The proceeds went to our Child in India.

I would like to give special thanks to my Social Committee for helping me make these events possible.

Social Convenor

Sports

During the first term I tried to make sports very interesting for the boys.

I enjoyed being Sports Rep. and I hope the boys enjoyed the sports that were planned.

Tom Ponech
First Term
Boys' Sports Rep.

Being Boys' Sports Rep. has been a real experience.

I have tried to organize enjoyable sports, and I hope that they have been enjoyable for all involved.

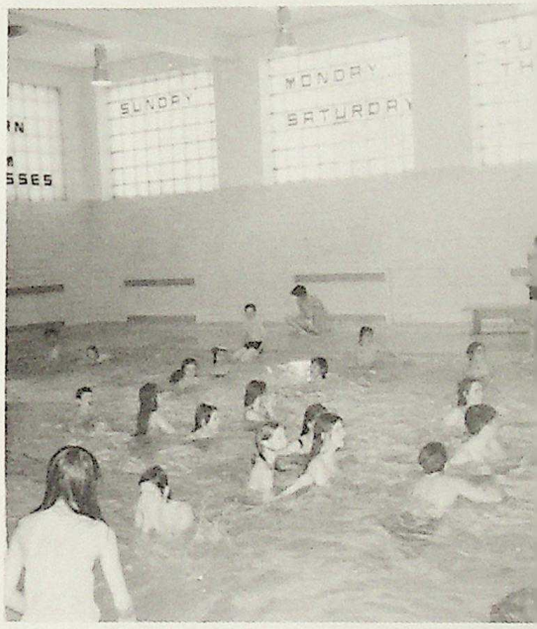
Boys' Sports Rep.



I have enjoyed being Girls' Sports Rep. for the first term. I think, though, that the girls were more interested in watching the boys play. Our sports would have been better if more girls had participated.

Kim Christman
First Term
Girls' Sports Rep.

Since Christmas, we have had basketball houseleagues and a large number of girls turned out. Gymnastics was also a success.

Our basketball team did very well this year with more wins, but unfortunately did not stay in the play-offs.

Due to the fact that spring took so long to get here we could not plan very many things. As soon as the snow disappeared a baseball houseleague was started.

The girls have participated well this year and I would like to thank Mr. Dame and Miss Milner for making it possible.

Was it only Yesterday?

He passes by the hospital
in which she last lay,
Kicks aside the withered leaves,
bitterly.
Was it only yesterday?
A joyful person,
alert to the world.
He wades along the edge of the water,
Her favorite place.
Crushes the shells
they were going to gather.
Was it only yesterday
she sat on the log,
the salt wind whipping her hair?
He trudges along the trail,
their trail,
she had named after him
christening it with a glass of water.
Was it only yesterday
they left breadcrumbs to mark their path?
He drags down Main Street.
Keeps his eyes down as he passes
the coffee shop,
remembering the way she used two straws
to drink sodas.
Turns his head the other way
when he comes to the hair salon.
She had wanted to get her hair cut,
and had laughed when he begged her not to.

Was it only yesterday?
It seems like a million years.....

McDougall's Stairs

Oh, when I was just brand new
I can remember that noisy crew
With bright red lips and Charleston tricks
The boys wore pants that looked like sticks.

Everyone went up and down me
Oh if you had been able to see
Fat ones, thin one, tall ones too
Look at my back now, because of you!

But now we come to the serious part
The part that breaks a person's heart
I saw young men go off to war
Not once but twice to fight what they stood for

And one more thing that was so sad
The fire--how it blazed like mad
But that was in 1929
Now look at the school, it's just fine.

I remember the Charleston dances they had
And how they danced and danced like mad
Twirling, swirling all around
On my back and on the ground.

Now look at you with Rock and Roll
Before a dance, you pay a toll
Times have changed so very fast
I hope these memories will last and last.

THE SHOPPING SPREE

"I want some candy, right now!" growled Sam. "I want some - right away!"

"I'm sorry, but you have enough candy," said his mother, "and we have have to shop for your clothes."

"What a grouch! Can't do this, can't do that!" he muttered rudely.

Usually Sam was better behaved that this but today he was in a bad mood.

"When are we going home?" bellowed Sam.

"When we are finished. I'm trying to hurry as fast as I can!" replied mother calmly.

Both of them stopped abruptly as they heard a strange tap-tap-tap approaching behind them. They looked around and saw a young man with a white cane tapping the pavement as if trying to feel his way.

"Oh, the poor man's blind! How young he is!" Mother said. "He's going to go straight into the traffic! Quick, run and help him, Sam!"

Quickly Sam ran to the young man and politely asked, "May I help you across the road.

Sam returned with a different look on his face. He kept quiet. In helping someone else he had forgotten about his bad mood.

"It must be terrible to be blind." he said softly.

"Yes, it must be. Did you hear about that man who recovered his sight the other day?" asked mother.

"No, how did he do it?" he questioned.

"Oh, a famous doctor operated on him. The man lost his sight at the age of two and he is now twenty-nine," she explaimed

"Blind for twenty-seven years!" exclaimed Sam.

"He was indeed happy to see trees, his family, his friends, and other things. Being so joyful he shouted, "It's great to see again!"

"I'm glad he's not blind any more." Sam declared with relief.

"Me too. I also heard that when he returned from the hospital he began to cry because he had never seen his mother's face before."

Sam looked up and saw tears running from his mother's eyes.

"I'm sorry I was so mean. I really do like shopping with you!" said Sam.

Mother squeezed his hand. She understood.

Chairman's Message

McDOUGALL SCHOOL REUNION
60TH ANNIVERSARY
NOVEMBER 15 - 16, 1973

Naturally, the highlight of any reunion is the fellowship which is generated by meeting with friends. To see once again and to talk with your former school buddies and teachers is a nostalgic happening. The 1973 reunion was truly a MEMORY-GO-ROUND and a very happy occasion for all who could attend.

The Reunion Committee looks back on this anniversary with a feeling of warm satisfaction and gratitude to those who contributed to its success. A very special thanks was earned by the present students and their teachers. The Alumni won't soon forget the excellent displays throughout the building. Nor will they forget the school's genuine hospitality and of course the fine Thrusday evening entertainment. Mr. Nick Kozak and his staff and students made a wonderful contribution to the anniversary activities.

The Committee itself was blessed with enthusiastic members who worked diligently to plan the details and to search for the funds to finance the program. In this connection 200 former students of McDougall contributed to the Patrons Fund. Without these monies, the reunion could not have been held. The patrons list which appears elsewhere in this book, is acknowledgement of their assistance. The cooperation of the trustees and the administration of the Edmonton Public School Board; the St. John's Church; and the custodial staff is recognized as part of the success.

Those were the days! Graduates and present pupils of McDougall School parted after the Reunion agreeing again that "McDougall is and was the BEST school ever."
